Letter from the President

Hello Members, Students, Graduates, Colleagues, and Friends -

This year we welcome Class P to CAPA's Basic Training Program. This is our 16th CAPA class, and I wish a happy and healthy year to all.

I'd like to also send a big congratulations to our Basic Training, Advanced Training and Supervision Training graduates.

CAPA alumni are also beginning at and graduating from analytic institutes. How fantastic!

As you read through this issue of our newsletter, you will find the names of all of these folks who make CAPA so proud. (See page 3.)

Let me also highlight the announcement of the upcoming 1st CAPA National Academic Conference in Chengdu on December 8, 9 and 10, 2023 entitled "Motivity, Inheritance & Future Psychoanalysis of the New Era". You can find more about this first of its kind event on page 2 and who to contact if you are interested in being a presenter (either in person or over Zoom).

Best wishes this academic year and many thanks to everyone who teaches, treats, and supervises with, studies at, and supports CAPA.

Letter from the Editor

I hope everyone had a great summer.

We all want to welcome the new CAPA Basic Training Program students - Class P- while also congratulating the students who completed their programs in June of 2023. Some of CAPA's alumni have also been accepted to analytic institutes and have graduated from them. Please see page 3 for more details. Good luck to all!

In this edition of our newsletter, we have a something new in the 'bonus' section on page 8. I hope you will give this new CAPA crossword puzzle a try. Using previous issues of CAPA's newsletters, answers to many of the crossword clues can be found.

Please check out other activities you can participate in this fall including Movie Club and Virtual Tours of China. The more, the merrier. Your help in spreading the word about these events to colleagues, friends, family, etc. is greatly appreciated. See page 2 for more details.

The New Books Network (NBN) podcast I am doing has proven to be very helpful to a number of writers. I think it could be an excellent opportunity for CAPA teachers and students to introduce their books to many people around the world. The network is committed to public service by increasing the visibility of books written by scholars and other thoughtful authors. It is available in every country except North Korea.

If you have a book you think might be a good fit, let me know at newbooksinpsychology@gmail.com. I will consider it for a future podcast!

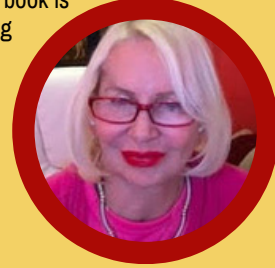

Please check out a recent podcast, One Green Thing: Discover your Hidden Power to Help Save the Planet that was conducted with the book's author, Heather White. It includes a foreword by Erin Brockovich.

In One Green Thing, which is available on Amazon, White shows you how to contribute to the climate movement through self-discovery and self-care.

Another recent podcast that may be of interest to you is one I did with Michael J. Diamond, a psychoanalyst in Los Angeles, CA. His book is Ruptures in the American Psyche: Containing Destructive Populism in Perilous Times.

I hope you all have a good fall.

Karyne Messina, EdD. Editor

CAPA Events

REFLECTING ON PAST EVENTS

Movie Club Discussion of A MAN CALLED OVE

After watching the film selection, 'A Man Called Ove', CAPA members, students and graduates met together on Saturday, June 17th (Sunday, June 18th in China) over Zoom to discuss and share thoughts about the film. Movie Club discussions are led by committee chairs Neal Spira and Jacky Song. The next Movie Club selection and the sign-up information is listed below under the Upcoming CAPA Events section.

Virtual Tour of the Lingering Garden in Suzhou

Regarded as one of the finest examples of Chinese 'Mountain and Water' gardens, the Lingering Garden dates back to the late 1500s and is recognized as a UNESCO World Heritage site. Simon, our tour director, and a local expert provided an excellent virtual tour experience. See the Upcoming Events section below to learn more about the upcoming tour of the gardens at the Summer Palace in Beijing.

UPCOMING EVENTS

1st CAPA National Academic Conference in Chengdu - December 8, 9 and 10, 2023 Motivity, Inheritance & Future Psychoanalysis of the New Era

The CAPA National Academic Conference, to be held in Chengdu this December, is the first of its kind in CAPA's history. CAPA trainees (past, present, and future) from all over the country will gather in Chengdu to hold a large-scale, multi-day academic conference. Therefore, this event, not only a milestone in CAPA's history, has significant meaning to the progress of mental health overall and specifically psychoanalysis in China.

The CAPA National Academic Conference will also feature graduation ceremonies each day. December 8th will be the Basic Training Program graduation, December 9th will be the Advanced Training Program ceremony, and on December 10th, the Supervision Training program graduation will take place.

For more information about attending in person or online, or if you are interested in presenting at the conference, contact YU Guoyu (Jade) <Jadeyu13@outlook.com or yuguoyu@capa.asia>

FAREWELL

Hassan Azim, M.D. passed away in July of 2023. Condolences to his family, friends, and colleagues. Dr. Azim joined CAPA in 2020 and his dedication to teaching and supervising never wavered. He powered through the challenges of modern technology and a pandemic to support CAPA's mission in China. We will miss his participation in our organization.

CAPA Magnified - A Closer Look

CAPA's Special Lecture Series

By Robert M. Gordon, Ph.D. ABPP, Chair of the Special Lecture Series Program and
Toni Maeck, Senior Program Administrator

The wonderful thing about psychoanalytic thought is that it is an attitude that we can use to look at not only ourselves, but at the whole world as well. That is what makes psychoanalysis such a great field. There are so many areas to which we can apply analytic concepts.

It is this exploratory mindset and the connection to our mission that inspired CAPA's Special Lecture Series Program.

In addition to the traditional courses taught at CAPA, there is a wealth of other topics that we could not squeeze into the base curriculum and yet are still important to practitioners in China. So we first developed a Continuing Education Program in 2014 to create a home for these other exciting topics. The initial program audience was CAPA students and graduates, in an effort to provide continuing education opportunities on these diverse topics. The Continuing Education Program also gave faculty a chance to share their rich expertise and specialty areas with students, diving deeper into fascinating areas of thought and practice.

In 2021, we decided to broaden our program's audience to include CAPA members not just as presenters but also as participants, and so we re-named the program to "Special Lecture Series", reflecting this shift. While we still hold events which are targeted to just our students/graduates or are members-only, many events now welcome students, alumni, and CAPA members together. The opportunity for rich, cross-cultural discussion is now woven into such events, and we have been thrilled to be able host CAPA's global community in one (Zoom) room together.

Below are upcoming Special Lecture Series events. We hope that they will interest you. Explore the links to learn more and sign up to attend. More are added throughout the year.

We are so grateful to the CAPA members and the many new friends of CAPA who have generously shared their wealth of expertise through these seminars. We are always seeking new instructors for our Special Lectures Series events. You can contact us at rmgordonphd@gmail.com if you are interested in teaching a seminar. We would love to hear about what you are excited to teach, and we look forward to seeing our members at our SLS events this year!

Member Interview

R. Mallory Starr, Ph.D.

R Mallory Starr, Ph. D. has been a CAPA member since 2010. He has contributed as a teacher and supervisor. His expertise as a consultant and friend of the organization has also helped CAPA in many ways over the years.

Where do you live and practice?

Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Describe your current work and/or type of practice, or if retired, describe the work you used to do.

Retired from Clinical Psychology practice in 2000. Continuing as Director on some Boards and as a management consultant with Institute of Management Consultants USA. Consultant and Member of Institute of Management Consultants (imcusa.org).

Please describe your career path, including your educational development such as additional degrees or institutes you attended as you built your career.

Career Path continues. Path was from after undergraduate education management trainee at Chase Manhattan Bank and part-time on projects at J Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, Marketing Research Division. This was followed by graduate school education in clinical psychology, human development, and business. From 1965 – 68 Clinical Psychologist in Connecticut. 1968 to 1971 back in graduate school at doctorate level, teaching and research in human development. 1971 to 1994 clinical psychologist in clinic programs, private practice, and starting in the 1980s management consulting engagements. 1993 -2000 Partner in 2 consulting firms and some Board of Directors positions. 2001 Director of a distressed asset development group, some Board positions and private practice in executive consultation.

Who would you say is the person that influenced your career the most, and how so?

Herman Barry Molish, Ph.D. clinical psychologist and career officer in the US Navy. He was also engaged in many consulting psychology positions as part of the Navy and as a civilian. After more than 20 years retired from the Navy and became a director of a large psychiatric research center and became later Chief of Psychology at Baylor U Medical School in Houston, Texas. He was a mentor for me and colleague for over 20 years. As a result, I learned much and got many significant connections to the military, a few universities and other organizations, and individuals.

How did you first hear of CAPA, and please describe why you feel a connection to CAPA's mission?

Some history: as part of my early career as a clinical psychologist, staff member at mental health organization, consulting psychologist and in private practice I have met many psychoanalytically oriented and trained psychiatrists, psychologists, and social workers. When living in Connecticut in the 1960s I was a psychologist on staff at a child guidance center in Norwalk, Connecticut and Southeastern Child Guidance Clinic, New London, Connecticut as well as a research consultant at Norwich, Connecticut. On those days most practitioners were psychoanalytically oriented and many trained in psychoanalysis. Some were part of Yale University- as was Elise Snyder. In 2009 I spoke with Elise Snyder and mentioned some knowledge I had then of CAPA, and she encouraged me to join. My first experience in China was on a healthcare system study tour in 1983 – there were 50 mostly American psychologists on this tour. At that time an estimate was that there may have been about 1,000 psychiatrists in China and plans were to increase that to more than 1 million. Some Chinese people we met said there were really no psychologists in China but some written materials and comments from some indicated that a few million mental health professionals would soon be trained, and licensing regulations were in development.

Please add anything else about yourself that you want the people in CAPA to know about you. You can also use this space to include a description of the image you uploaded.

At times I wish I were a scholar but am not really. My work is focused on the application of knowledge and deals with getting alignment of groups to become teams to achieve objectives and goals. The theme of my work is to be a catalyst to internally strengthen an organization so that it can achieve greater success in the marketplace external to itself. With individuals, it is the same objectives and goals focus. For example, individuals have personalities which consist of 3 main functional parts which influence and drive behavior. Those parts are id which is biological drives and release of energy; ego which is sense of self and has several executive functions such as communication, interpersonal skills, such as empathy, concentration and attention, intelligence (reference if then systems) creativity, articulation and goal directedness, etc.; and superego – which is the values, the rules, education based socialization – being civilized. In simple terms. The interaction of the 3 parts — the id part has a wish to get something, the ego says to get it, but the superego says there are rules— social ways, laws and behavior guidance to follow as part of civilized society, and, these are important to consider before acting.

Student Interview

YAO Liang (Alive) 姚亮

YAO Liang (Alive) 姚亮 is currently enrolled in CAPA's Basic Training Program and will begin Year 2 in September of 2023.

Where do you live and practice?

Guangzhou.

Describe your current work and/or type of practice.

I'm working as a full time therapist in private practice.

In three words, can you describe your experience at CAPA so far?

Adventure in an unknown continent.

What has helped your practice the most since you began training at CAPA?

Personalities of various teachers naturally influence me. Their openness, patience, kindness, humility, recognition, empathy, humor, affirmative, assertion, authenticity have influenced me

Do you envision yourself staying involved with CAPA after you graduate, and if so, how?

I can't foresee that far. Now I can imagine is after graduating from first 2 years of study, I would like to apply for more advanced CAPA program to enrich myself.

What is one thing that has surprised you about CAPA?

I can meet so many different teachers with very, very different perspectives in how they see this world and other human beings, while sharing the same enthusiasm towards this profession. The connections with these fantastic professionals make me feel the world has so many possibilities that I should and would find my unique being in this world, in this profession.

Please add anything else about yourself that you want the people in CAPA to know about you. You can also use this space to include a description of the image you uploaded.

I'm always too shy to present myself in front of others. Now I am learning to find my own words from somewhere within to talk to this world. Here in CAPA, the adventure in an unknown continent is both inside and outside. Maybe sometime somewhere we can meet and have some conversation.

Graduate Interview

ZHANG Ya-Juan (Barbara) 张亚娟

ZHANG Ya-Juan (Barbara) 张亚娟 began CAPA training in 2014 (Class G), graduated from the Advanced Program in 2018 and the Supervision Training Program in 2019. Barbara just graduated in Adult Psychoanalysis at PCOP (Psychoanalytic Center of Philadelphia) this June 2023.

Where do you live and practice?

Shenzhen, China.

Describe your current work and/or type of practice.

Private practice as a psychoanalyst and psychodynamic psychotherapist in Shenzhen, China, where I treat adults, adolescents, children, mom/baby dyads, couples, and families.

Reflecting back, what was your first thought when you heard of CAPA?

One senior CAPA student told me that CAPA is the best training provider of psychodynamic psychotherapy in China. Those were the first words I heard about CAPA, and I decided at that moment that I was going to apply to CAPA.

During your time as a student, describe the most useful thing that CAPA helped you with (career-wise or personally).

It was at CAPA that I learned to work with patients in long-term psychodynamic psychotherapy. I am deeply grateful to CAPA. I'm also profoundly moved by Elise Snyder, by her passion, resilience, and energy.

As a member of one of the earlier classes at CAPA, please describe why and how you have stayed connected with CAPA, even after graduating 5 or 10 years ago.

Even before I finished CAPA training, I started adult and child analytic training at PCOP. I expect to resume further contact with CAPA after my child analytic training is completed.

Is there a CAPA member, perhaps a teacher or supervisor, that to this day stands out in your mind to have influenced you, encouraged you or supported you in an unexpected way?

I Lana Fishkin stands out in my mind to this day. When I was a first-year CAPA student, she said I would go far in this field. She seemed to see something in me that I was not quite aware of at the time. I greatly appreciate her encouragement.

Please add anything else about yourself that you want the people in CAPA to know about you. You can also use this space to include a description of the image you uploaded.

I'm so glad that I'm on a lifelong learning journey, and I feel that the more you know, the more you become aware of what you do not know. My dream is that I will still be able to do psychoanalytic work (i.e., psychoanalysis, teaching, supervising, writing, etc.) when I get really old.
